

LAVENDER

Music by N. Davis

Lyrics by Alexander

For years my sorrow had complete control

And painful memories refused to go

The tenderness we once shared still follows me everywhere

Your ghost forever haunts inside my soul

Today's the day I finally must choose

Let happiness return or die old news

Release the past, re-play love's game and live this life without the pain

Dear God, provide me strength to renew

Lavender, colors all my hopes and fears

Lavender, makes every flaw so clear

We were beautiful, that's true, but now it's time my heart loved someone new ...

I miss you

When I laid you down I thought I could move on
And I lived without small joys and that was wrong
Somehow I found the will I needed to survive
My lost dreams crystallized
I'm alive!

Lavender, colors all my hopes and fears
Lavender, makes every flaw so clear
We were beautiful, that's true, but now it's time my heart
loved someone new ...
Not you

Everyone agrees I'm smiling more
Guess I've come to peace with letting go Heartbreak heals in time as grief plateaus
We'll always have those years
Great moments less the tears
And for love's last ado ...
I release you