

Epilogue

Since the 9/11 alien attacks on humanity to prevent the global financial system from benevolently transitioning, the Poet Servant went on to become the western world's most profound philanthropist and sovereign wealth investment advisor by volume, as well as co-founder of Human Angel Services--the first ever top-down-philanthropy.

Alexi, Lex James, Yosef and Alexander -- freely gifted or offered charitable financial advice worth over fifteen quadrillion dollars, in 112 countries worldwide, affecting every continent and living soul on the planet.

He also inspired tens of thousands of fellow Human Angels to do the same, and begin their own top-down-philanthropy... helping people, help people.

Time will tell, but the Poet Servant's gentle voice and wise words may have led the most massive philanthropic movement in recent history... not seen maybe since the Peace Corps.

Christopher Walken

(or unpaid impersonator)